RICHMOND WAS AN EASY WINNER

The Hardware Men of the United States Have Decided to Meet Here Next Year.

The hardware men of the United States are coming to Richmond. Yesterday at the annual meeting of the National Hardware Convention, which was in session in Pittsburg. Penn., it was decided that he next convention should be held in but Richmond won on the second ballot. This convention represents the whole-sale hardware trade of the entire United States, and there are present generally about three or four hundred delegates. Essides these there will be a large number of iron and steel manufacturers from the leading foundries of the Union, who always accompany the hardware men on account of the large quantity of iron and steel used annually by the wholesale manufacturers.

It was through the efforts of the hard-ware men of Richmond and the Unumber of Commerce, who joined with the hardware trade of Richmond in extending the ware trade of Richmond of extending the nitiation, that the convention will meet here, and much credit is due these gendemen for their efforts in pushing Richmond to the front and bringing its admitages into the notice of the general mable.

Richmond was represented at the convention by Mr. W. S. Donnan, of W. S. Donnan & Co., A. B. Clarke, of A. B. Clarke & Son, and other prominent wholesale hardware men of this city.

The following is the telegram received by Mr. R. A. Dunlop, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, from Mr. A. B. Clarke, one of Richmond's most prominent hardware dealers, tast evening:

Captain John Lamb introduced the delegation to Assistant Secretary of the Navy Allen, who extended to them a most cordial welcome. Colonel Cutshaw and Mr. Virginius Newton then laid before the secretary the necessity of improving the harbor and river at Richmond the Navy Allen.

Louisville be Thrown Out on that Score.

Mr. Allen responded by saying that the project has his unqualified support and that he will do everything in his power to give Richmond harbor facilities commensurate with the importance of her ommerce and industries.

The delegation next visited Secretary Root. The same arguments were also presented to that official. Mr. Root was most earnest in his support of the project of giving Richmond a channel of twenty-five depth to the sea. He said that no technicality in the present bill mode the progress of the work. that no technicality in the present bill should impede the progress of the work. The work of the delegation cannot be too highly commended. Colonel Cutshaw and Mr. Newton made their claims in such a concise and foreible manner that all of the officials were impressed with the importance of the work. One claim made by the committee was that the works should be pressed with the greatest despatch and in this they received the approval of the committee.

PROMISED HIS AID.

Chief of Engineers Wilson listened to the committee and promised to do all in his power to assist the project of James River improvement. He dwelt particularly on his love for Richmond and her people, and spoke in feeling terms of his loved ones who are buried on Virginia soil. General Wilson said that his power was limited, and that the matter was principally one for Congress. He spoke in the highest terms of Representative Lamb and referred to him as a hard worker for the interests of his district, and assured the delegation that their representative will do all in his power for the improvement of James river.
